The Record for 1 P.M. : Pitzgerald, 408, 3;	Albert,

There was a new leader this morning of the pro-cession which is marching in enclose line around the elliptical race track in Madison Square Garden. George Listlewood, the Shemeld blonds, had run Dan Herty down for twenty-four hours and over-which Pat Pingerald randle miles, the Long Islander scored 447 miles 6 laps. Last February, at the same hour, in his sil-mile race, Jimmle Albert recorded 400 miles I lap. Littlewood and Herty were almost together last night at the same period. The latter scored 481 miles 2 laps and the Englishman was just one lap behind.

At midnight, Wednesday, Herry led by 7 miles

Albert covered to miles on Friday and 76 miles on Saturday, in his race. Littlewood has more speed than Albert and fully as much "sand in his crop," and Dan Herty is a wonder of endurance. Besides, each of these two is a spur to the other, forcing the page in the attempt to quido each other.

At 7 o'clock Littlewood had increased his lead over Herit to 4 miles, and was only 3½ miles behind the score of Jimmy Albert at the same hour in his race, and 53 miles better off than he was at the same hour in the May race, when be finished 61 miles, with the bone of one great toc exposed, the flesh having been worn off.

Frank Hart scored his 400th mile at 6.47 this morning, and old man Peach, who has a bet of 500 that he will cover 500 miles and be in the race at the finish, completed his 500th mile at 7.29 o'clock, Peter Golden scoring 400 at the same morning.

Moore, who led the race for two days, was badly discouraged this morning. He was obliged to centiuue on his way to hold third place, but he had no heart in the work. He was in fair condition, but his speed and strength were spent.

HERTY SPURTING. Patient Noreman had seen a dozen of those who led him at the start fall by the way or drop behind, and was in fifth place this moraing, with the certainty of many precedents that Cartwright would let him pass him and the probability apparent that he would succeed Moore in third place at the nnish.

Bobby Vint retired to bed at 11 o'clock last night with 90 miles to his credit. The little shoemaker will wear out no more of his wares in this race.

Feter Golden's eyes were swollen nearly shut this mornins, and howarth, who outran everybody clese Monday and Tuesday, was hollow-eyed and rickety to-day. Frank Hart, the Haytian colored boy, was seemingly in hetter condition than any of rickety to-day. Frank Hart, use Haytan colored boy, was seemingly in better condition then any of his fellow peds, but incapable of urging himself out of his three-mile gait. George Counor, the little Englishman, rau more gracefully than any other man on the track. His face was bright, cheerful and smiling. At one time he was a leader among the English run ners. time he was a leader among the Eaglish run ners.

George Mason's first experience in a six-day race has not been discouraging. At 7 this morning he had coored 390 miles and was not badly broken up, though fearfully weary and heavy-eyed.
Old Sport Campana has outdoke himself in this race. He is portages the only person connected with the race who did not take to little Smith, the runaway English boy. Old Sport has not looked upon the lad with favor. He interfered with Campana's business. He got from people in the audience some of the dollar bills of which Sport has always held a monopoly.

It forced the eld man to do more work, and yesterday he covered sixty-eight miles, and at 7 o'clock this morning he had travelled MS miles. He says he be going to wind up his career as a pedestrian by covering the 535 miles and helping to divide the boodle in this race.

Robinson went early to the play-house and bought a box. He was accompanied by a man named Henry C. Gray. They are both well known in certain classes here.

Robinson has been on a wild spree for many days now. He is a dangerous mau in his cups, and the police were recently warned to look out for him. He created a disturbance a few nights ago, but was not arrested. Last night he was not noticed until after the curtain went up. Then he was seen to rise, and apparently attempt to jump on the stage. Mitchell and Kilrain had just been introduced. Robinson's companion dragged him down to his seat again.

A policeman started for the box to find out what the trouble was, but before he got there the pistol-shot echoed through the house. The bail whistled by the heads of those in front and buried itself in the scenery opposite Robinson's box. He was throwing the pistol in a corner when the officer got in and arrested him and his friend.

The pugilists claim they do not know Robinson. Mitchell declared last night that he could whip Dempsey and Kilrain claimed that he could whip any man in the world.

TRAMPS DRIVEN AWAY BY MILITIA. Olean People Stood Their Foraging Long Enough-How They Lived.

ISPECIAL TO THE EVERING WORLD. Burralo, Nov. 30.—For some time past, people living near Olean have been terrorized by a gang of about fifty tramps.

They made their headquarters in some woods north of the Eric Railroad tracks, two miles beyond the city limits. An old barr and a but made of trees were fitted up by th ramps for occupancy, and from this point tramps for occupancy, and from this point they foraged on the farmers until patience seased to be a virtue.

Their thefts were confined to articles of little value, but were very annoying. Pieces of harness would be stolen, cows would be milked dry at night, hencoops robbed and woodsheds invaded. The tramps soared housewives half out of their wfts, but were careful to offer no physical violence. When their depredations had extended into Olean the authorities concluded to act.

The Forty-second Separate Company was called out by the Sheriff, placed under arms and spent Thanksgiving in the woods gunning for the gang. The robbers' roost was surrounded and then invaded, but the half hundred vagabonds had escaped, having received warning in some way. The militia accured the woods, but failed to find a single tramp.

The gang had made elaborate preparations for a Thanksgiving feast, but had to leave their stolen banquet.

FIREBUGS AGAIN AT WORK. SMUGGLED GEMS AS BAIT. DRIVEN OUT BY DIPHTHERIA

MRS, BECK'S PLAINFIELD HOUSE ROBBED AND BURNED TO ASHES.

The Work of the Inconductes Done Early This Morning While the Widow and Her Daughter Were in Brooklyn-Is There Another Gang of Firebugs in the Town Like the Van Nesta?

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Nov. 30.—As the result of an incendiary fire the fine residence of Mrs. Julius Beck, in East Front street, is today a mass of smoking ruins.

Mrs. Beck, a wealthy widow, went with her daughter to Brooklyn to spend Thanks-giving Day. They closed up their pretty ouse, not dreaming there was any danger in leaving it unoccupied.

At I o'clock this morning flames burst forth from the house, and before the Fire Department could do any effective work the ouilding was totally destroyed, together with building was totally destroyed, together with its contents.

While the fire was under way the firemen discovered that the back door was open. This is further evidence that the house was robbed and then set on fire by an incendiary and thief to cover up his tracks.

The house was handsome and was elegantly furnished. Mrs. Beck and her daughter have lost their entire wardrobe with the exception of what they wore away with them. Two valuable hunting dogs were left in the house and were burned to death. The total da mage is estimated at $11,000.

The theory is that the thief gave the dogs poisoned meat before attempting the robbery. There have been many mysterious fires of late, and the old apprehension about firebugs is again being felt.

When Louis and Horace Van Nest were sent to State Prison some months ago the residents felt easier. They thought they had got rid of the firebugs. Then came Willie Van Nest, the young brother of the two other firebugs. He set fire to the laundry where he worked and was finally detected and punished. He is now in a reformatory. The feeling is that there still exists a little band of these criminals and an unceasing effort is being made to find them out and punish them.

of 1412 Third avenue; Frank Sharkey, aged sixteen years, of 72 East One Hundred and Thirteenth street, and William H. Robertson, of 2319 Second avenue.

They were charged with causing the death of an old woman in a vacant house on One Hundred and Seventh street, near Fourth avenue, last Wednesday night, having been arrested on the complaint of Matthew Murray, twenty-seven years old, who lives at 125 East One Hundred and Tenth street.

Murray said that he had overheard a conversation between the boys, which led him to believe that a murder had been done. It turned out, however, that this talk had occurred about a week before the woman's death, and was about a different woman. Judge Murray questioned the lais and they denied knowing the woman who died. Murray couldn't tell anything about the case and the Judge dismissed them.

NOT STOLEN FROM OUR SERVICE.

A despatch to The World this morning from Ottawa stated that a large number of registered letters expected from the United States and Western Canada had never been received by citizens in Ottawa, and that the entire mail carried by the Grand Trunk Railway had mysteriously disappeared.

Postmaster Pearson, when shown the despatch by an Evening World reporter, said:
"I have not heard anything about a loss of the Ottawa mail or any irregularity in the mail service, so I judge that if there is trouble it is in the Canadian service, and not ours. I would surely have been informed of any irregularity in our service."

Capt. Compton insisted that the crew should go home, but refused to go himself. He is bound to stick to the vessel, until death if necessary, and is determined that the American flag shall not be hauled down.

Now that his companions have left him he will probably fare worse than before, but it is not likely that he will be killed, as the Haytian officials are afraid that such an outrage might hasten matters and put themselves in an unpleasant situation with the United States.

On the door of the Haytian Consul's office a sign was hung this morning bearing the inscription in pig letters, "No reporters the wanted."

HERMAN BERNHARD AND A PAL SWINDLE GOUVENEUR HOSPITAL SHUT UP AND THE DOZENS OF TRADESMEN.

The Matual Admiration Dodge was Worked and When the Money was Paid Over Bernhard Berrowed the Jewels and Disappeared - Lodged in a Cell at Peller Headquarters.

Herman Bernhard, alias Straum, who face is familiar to every student of the rogues' portrait gallery, is to-day in a cell at Police Headquarters, accused of numerous successful swindling operations.

The particular enterprise which has again got Bernhard into a hole is told as follows by Inspector Byrnes: In the latter part of Sep tember Bernhard paid a visit to the store of Franz Michaels, a shoemaker at Seventy-sixth street and First avenue, and told a pitiful story of his daughter's misfortune. He said that she was a beautiful girl, who was afflicted with a short foot, and he wanted a cork shoe beautiful diamonds and jewelry. He claimed to have arrived recently from England and had smuggled his jewelry.

He was anxious to effect an immediate sale, as he was out of employment and in need of funds.

Bernhard looked over the stuff and appeared to be wonderfully enthused over its beauty and cheapness, and turning it over to the shoemaker, whispered:

"That jewiry is worth $300; give him $40 for it."

The sale was concluded and the alleged smuggler departed. Then Bernhard re-examined the diamonds and other jewels and said to Michaels:

"Let me take this to my pawnbroker and I will get you $150 on it. Will that be enough?"

I will get you $150 on ft. Will that be enough?"
Michaels was costatic over such sudden wealth and readily acquiesced. Bernhard left the shop and neither he nor the jewelry was seen again. Michaels laid the case before the Chief Detective Bureau, and Detectives O'Brien and McCauley were put on the case. The detectives learned that Bernhard and his companion had done a land office business in this line, shopksepers and immates of reputable flats being the victims.

Bernhard was captured yesterday and was locked up in a cell at Police Headquarters. He is a tall, lantern-jawed fellow, with a semblance of side-whiskers and speaks in a jerky, but confidential manner.

This morning over a dozen men and women called at Police Headquarters and identified Bernhard as having swindled them in much the same way as was Michaels. He was taken to Essex Market Police Court and remanded.

It is admitted that the men were quarrelling in the rear third-story hallroom when Mary, who is aunt to McGovern's wife, tried to get into the room by the fire-escape, and that she was found in the yard later with three ribs broken, having fallen three stories. The men are suspected of pushing Mrs. Connell from the fire-escape, but there is no evidence to this effect. Mrs. Connell went through Mrs. Maria Salie's room to get onto the escape, and the latter said this morning that the two men were in the adjoining room, away from the window, and Mrs. Connell was the only person on the escape.

Mrs. Connell was taken unconscious to Chambers Street Hospital, and this morning said she remembered absolutely nothing about the affair. She is in a critical condition and may die.

The work of removing the patients was at once begun and to-day the last of them was taken to Bellevue and the work of disinfection was begun.

Surgeon Chalmers, who contracted the disease while recovering from an attack of pneumonia, is the only patient left at the hospital, and although he is reported as being a little better this morning, he is also suffering from heart failure, and the chances of his recovery are very doubtful. King Repulsed the Girl When She Asked Him to Marry Her.

NEW HAVEN, COnn., Nov. 30.—Who killed ohn B. King?

He was shot on the street in front of saloon of Henry Donovan, corner Charles and Orehard streets, about 6 o'clock last evening.

The whole affair is shrouded in mystery It is without a parallel in the history of New Haven crimes, with the exception of the myage butchery on Prince street about twenty years ago, when a man's throat was out and the man left to die. His murderer was hever discovered. So far the police have been unable to any positive clue as to the person who did the shooting.

King moved in good society in New Haven and for a time was employed as a drummer for Leighton & Co., of this city.

While in Waterbury he met Miss Susi Meehan, the daughter of Edward Meehar Mechan, the daughter of Edward Mechan, the superintendent of the office of the Singer Sewing-Machine Company in this city.

Miss Mechan is a handsome young lady, and has spent most of her life in a Waterbury convent. She met King at Waterbury while he was on a business trip.

An acquaintance sprang up, which gradually ripened into a warm friendship. One of the rules of the convent is that no young lady shall carry on a correspondence without the consent of her parents. This put a damper on King's wooting, but when Miss Mechan returned to this city he renewed his attentions to the young lady.

Upon her return to New Havan Miss Mechan went to live with the family of Mr. Joseph Preck, a wealthy relative residing on Orchard street.

In the mean time King entered the office of treated King to marry her and save her from diagrace.

A sensational scene followed, in which King ordered both women out of the office.

Mr. Preck has been out of town, and the first he knew of the delicate condition of his niece was when he returned to the city only a few days ago.

He is a man of a very quick issuper and the police are of the opinion that he is the one who did the shooting, although up to 11 o'clock this morning no positive proof of this fact had been established.

Preck is nowhere to be found, and the fact that he left town suddenly tends to strengthen the theory that he is the man who is cognisant of the murder.
